| 7. Describe the product or service and explain how it relates to the coverage offered (Section 59A-16-17(G)(1) NMSA 1978):We provide a safety wearable device the size of a beeper/pager that clips onto the waistline of an employee and measures their ergonomic body movement. The wearable will send a vibration alert to the employee if any of their movements fall into high risk posture or position that could lead to an injury. The data of these movements is also recorded and shared with the employer so they can take appropriate action (for example training) to help reduce these "high risk postures" and injuries.This product is offered to all of our customers who purchase a Workers Comp insurance policy. The product is directly related to employee safety and is notable compliment to add with workers compensation insurance coverage. |                                                                         |                                             |
